

Marvellous Mayans

We researched and wrote about how the Mayans used to live. We also enjoyed listening to and writing our own stories about, "The Hero Twins." This was a truly gruesome tale from the Mayan period.

During this maths lesson, we applied the skills we had learnt about calculating the perimeter of simple shapes to help us calculate the perimeter of a much larger compound shape.

Here we are showing off our talents in proms on the yard. We really enjoyed singing our songs and listening to the solo and group singers.

Couldn't possibly have a sports day without the good old egg and spoon race. Don't forget to concentrate! Afterwards, we cheered our parents and careers on as they raced.

Here we are finding the meaning of new words and learning new homophones! We had some really useful discussions, then we checked definitions using the thesaurus to see if we were correct.
